

Central Missouri
Celtic Arts Association

presents

navan

a cappella Celtic harmonies

Sunday, October 27, 7:30 p.m.
Sacred Heart Catholic Church

(Corner of Waugh and Locust Streets in Columbia)

see www.moceltic.org for more info, or call 573-442-2048.

$8 CMCAA members/$10 public/free for kids 14 & under

Navan is a four-person a cappella vocal group who sing in the Irish, Scots Gaelic, Welsh, Manx and Breton languages. Choosing a repertoire of seldom-heard songs in seldom heard languages, Navan offers a sampling of nearly-extinct song traditions. Because Celtic languages developed as oral languages, with little or no writing until Christian monks began recording the oral histories, these languages have a natural rhythm and poetic quality that is especially evident in the songs.

During their performances, Navan explain the songs and their origins, and often combine different versions of the songs they've researched, sometimes singing in the Sean Nos solo voice style, but more often adding rich 4-part harmonies that will send chills down your spine!

Central Missouri
Celtic Arts Association

presents

navan

a cappella Celtic harmonies

Sunday, October 27, 7:30 p.m.
Sacred Heart Catholic Church

(Corner of Waugh and Locust Streets in Columbia)

see www.moceltic.org for more info, or call 573-442-2048

$8 CMCAA members/$10 public/free for kids 14 & under

Navan is a four-person a cappella vocal group who sing in the Irish, Scots Gaelic, Welsh, Manx and Breton languages. Choosing a repertoire of seldom-heard songs in seldom heard languages, Navan offers a sampling of nearly-extinct song traditions. Because Celtic languages developed as oral languages, with little or no writing until Christian monks began recording the oral histories, these languages have a natural rhythm and poetic quality that is especially evident in the songs.

During their performances, Navan explain the songs and their origins, and often combine different versions of the songs they've researched, sometimes singing in the Sean Nos solo voice style, but more often adding rich 4-part harmonies that will send chills down your spine!